Radio Show Ends Tonight With Big Entertainment

Record Crowd Expected to View Electrical and Radio Displays at Final Exhibition Tonight—Milton J. Cross on Program—Exhibitors Well Pleased With Results.

A record-breaking crowd is expected to attend the closing exhibition and entertainment tonight at Kingston's first Electrical and Radio Show which is being successfully held at the New York state armory. Labeled a success from the start, the show continued Friday with very pleasing results to the exhibitors.

The show is worthwhile and everybody visiting it has said that they were well repaid. Outside of the great Electrical and Radio Show there is an entertainment program which is well worth the price of admission. The program for tonight, featuring Milton J. Cross, radio announcer for WJZ, who will be the man in charge, is one of the best of the entire show. Miss Richards, who is widely known, will be seen in a dance number. Rodger Keough, novelty dancer, will appear as will Miss Ella Mae Longtoe. These dancers are always favorites and have something new to present to their audience this evening. Jessie Cowley, a singer of ability, will render several numbers. Harry P. Dodge will be the accompanist during the evening.

Booths Very Attractive.

Anticipating record crowds the many exhibitors extended themselves in erecting their booths and the result is a most attractive display. Persons interested in anything electrical will do well to visit the booths at the show for there is everything there for the household. The many radios on display with the obliging clerks make it very interesting for radio owners or prospective buyers. The latest equipment is displayed and many pointers can be had for the asking. There are over fifty exhibitors and the wares displayed cover a very wide range of electrical household necessities. There are also special attractions for the progressive farmer or surburban resident.

Cooperating with the Ulster County Radio Dealers' Association and the Electric Service League of Kingston are five local automobiles distributors, who are showing their latest models. Fred C. Winters also has a piano on display.

Afternoon and Evening.

The show opened this afternoon at 1 o'clock and will close tonight at 10:30. If it is impossible to attend tonight visitors are welcome to inspect the display this afternoon. The big feature for the evening is the entertainment program, which is staged at 7:30 o'clock and then again at 9 o'clock.

Crowd Attended Friday.

Throughout Friday afternoon and evening another large crowd was in attendance and the exhibitors are well pleased with the results. The entertainment in the evening featuring the Dixie Jubilee Singers was well received. Miss Downer, a pupil of Miss Richards, delighted her audience with dance numbers and Miss Mildred Messinger rendered pleasing solos.

Local Organization Raises Standard

The Electric Service League of Kingston, N. Y., which in conjunction with the Ulster County Radio Dealers' Association is responsible for Kingston's first Electrical and Radio Show, was organized February, 1925.

The organization is composed of individuals, firms and corporations engaged in selling or installing electrical equipment or supplies, and was organized for the purpose of raising the standard of electric service in the territory served by the membership. Each member has pledged himself to be mindful of the public welfare and to participate in those movements for public betterment in which his special training and experience qualify him to act.

The operation locally of the Red Seal plan is one of the major activities of the local Electrical League. The Red Seal plan is backed by the Society for Electrical Development and by the organized electrical interests of this community.

Not Operated For Profit

Neither the Society nor the local organization is operated for profit. Both are dedicated solely to the service of the public.

The society, as its name implies, is an international organization of the electrical industry devoted to the promotion and development of electric service, of electrical usage and of better understanding of electrical possibilities by the public. It is supported by the electrical industry as a whole.

The local organization is representative of the electrical interests of this city in the development and perfection of electric service to the public in this community. It is supported largely through membership dues.

Purpose of Red Seal Plan

The purpose of the Red Seal plan is to develop and maintain a high standard of service of electrical installation and to certify and identify this service for the benefit of the public, so that such service can be easily secured, recognized and appreciated by all concerned. It is protection for the public, partly against its own lack of familiarity with electrical technicality, and partly against the possibility of misunderstanding between the customer and the electrical contractor or other interests to satisfy the customer with the quality of work performed.

Police Take Up Police Training

Practical Course on Police Work Instituted By Kingston Police Department, Giving Men Thorough Knowledge of Existing Laws and Methods.

The Kingston police department for some time past has been interested in the subject of better police training. Beginning September 1, a practical course of police training was instituted in the department. The course will give the men a thorough knowledge of existing laws and methods of practical police work which will place them on a better footing to carry out their work and will enable them to explain laws more fully to citizens with whom they come in contact. Their review of the laws will also create new interest.

Various subjects pertaining to police work will be taken up. Question sheets are supplied which are answered and filed each month by every member of the department. This will be continued until all laws, ordinances and subjects are thoroughly covered.

The project will induce greater activity and efficiency in an already efficient department. The plan has the approval of Mayor Dempsey and the board of police commissioners.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Oct. 6 (AP).—Three men were dead today and four others were in a local hospital with serious injuries after their automobile plunged through a bridge railing to the railroad tracks, 49 feet beneath. Little hope was held for the recovery of two of the injured.

ARREST FOLLOWS AUTO CRASH ON BROADWAY

Frank Koenig of 73 Brewster street was arrested Friday evening on a charge of driving a Ford truck without having an operator's license in his possession. The hearing will be held Monday in police court. Koenig reported to the police that while driving on Broadway, near Hoffman street, his truck bumped into the automobile of Charles Warren. Both cars were somewhat damaged. The arrest was made by Officer Hicks.

Operation for Federal Reserve Head.

New York, Oct. 6 (AP).—Benjamin Strong, governor of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, is to undergo an operation for an intestinal disturbance, it was announced today. Mr. Strong, who has periodically suffered from ill-health for several years, was taken to the New York Hospital Thursday evening.

Smith Faces Tough Job in Schedule

Describes Details of Speaking Itinerary as "Up in the Air"—May Follow Hoover's Example by Speaking in Tennessee.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 6 (AP).—While his Republican opponent was on the war path in Tennessee today, Governor Smith turned to final arrangements for his second campaign speaking tour which probably will take him, at the very start, to the same sector.

The name of the particular city in the southern border state the Democratic presidential nominee has selected to visit still was being awaited today, as were dates and places for his entire journey for the next two or three weeks.

In revising a tentative schedule for his second swing around the eastern half of the country, prepared by the Democratic national committee, the governor apparently has run up against a tough job, but he hoped today or tomorrow to have some announcement to make regarding it.

Meanwhile, the governor reiterates that any speaking engagements for this tour announced from any other source including local committees, should be considered as only tentative. Radio hookups, the hiring of halls with sufficient seating capacities, and train schedules occupied the attention of the nominee again yesterday and late last night, but today he thought he would be fairly well along toward completion of the itinerary.

Leaves Albany Monday.

Leaving here some time Monday, the governor is expected to put in the better part of that day in conference with party leaders in New York city, probably leaving the next day for his first speaking date. While a state in the "solid south" is understood to have been considered at one time for the initial address of the second tour, this plan now is believed to have been discarded in favor of the border state of Tennessee.

Reports are conflicting as to the number of weeks the governor will spend on the road before coming back to Albany, the latest being that he will return to the capital before three weeks are up. There also have been varying estimates as to the number of speeches he will deliver. Some say six and others five.

That the working out of the itinerary has given the nominee some slight discomfort was indicated during yetserday's press conference at the executive mansion when he appeared, ready for golf, and pleaded with the newspapermen to speed up their questions so as to enable him to get in a round or two before dinner. A trifle irritated, he said many details of the trip remained "up in the air" and already they had kept him away from one engagement on the links.

CURTIS STARTS SUNDAY AGAIN INTO NORTHWEST

Chicago, Oct. 6 (AP)—Facing almost a full calendar for the final month of the campaign, Senator Charles Curtis, the Republican vice presidential nominee dug in at his hotel quarters today with the hope of getting a day of rest through privacy.

It was late last night when the veteran campaigner returned from an all day motor tour of northern Indiana and tomorrow he sets out again into the northwest, spending the week in North Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Only a tentative luncheon engagement at the Union League Club stood between the senator and the complete idleness he sought today. The doctor ordered the idleness and the weary nominee was favorably considering the order.

After next week in the northwest, the senator will move eastward to join Herbert Hoover in the final drive on that sector which party leaders consider the battleground of the campaign. Curtis will open that phase of the campaign at Raleigh, N. C., October 15 and for 10 days will march up the Atlantic coast line into New York state and Massachusetts.

MERITS OF PROHIBITION TO BE URGED BY BORAH

Chicago Oct. 6 (AP).—Senator William E. Borah left Chicago last night to urge the merits of prohibition in the south and east.

"I'm going to talk for prohibition," he said. "I've been talking it everywhere I've been—even Detroit, though some persons didn't think it was wise there. But the applause I received demonstrated the popularity of prohibition."

In North Carolina however, Senator Borah plans to discuss benefits of Republican tariff as well as the Volstead act. In West Virginia and Texas, he will discuss Hoover's farm relief program.

No national speakers scheduled.

Hoover in South Makes Personal Appeal to Voters

Elizabethton Speech This Afternoon Carried by Radio Into Democratic Strongholds—Speech Climaxes Historical and Industrial Celebration—Shortened Schedule for Trip to Boston Approved.

Hoover Train En Route to Elizabethton, Tenn., Oct. 6 (AP).—Herbert Hoover is in the southland today to make his fourth major address of the campaign—a personal appeal to the voters of Democratic Dixie to support him as the Republican presidential candidate.

For Hoover's speech at Elizabethton, in the heart of traditionally Republican territory, a radio hookup was arranged to carry his words out beyond the eastern Tennessee mountains into the old states of the confederacy which have been Democratic strongholds since the days of reconstruction.

A high mountain formed a "back drop" for the scene of the nominee's fourth major address of the campaign, delivered from a platform facing a rolling meadow to a great crowd from Virginia and North Carolina as well as Tennessee. His address was scheduled to be started at 3 p. m., eastern standard time and to be carried by radio into the east and middle west, as well as into the south.

After his speech at Elizabethton, Hoover's program called for a second address at the soldiers' home at Johnson City, Tenn., and dinner as the guest of the Chamber of Commerce before beginning the return trip to Washington.

Approves New England Schedule.

Before leaving Washington last night, the Republican standard bearer approved a much shortened schedule for his trip to Boston week after next for the delivery of his fifth prepared address. There will be no prolonged stop in Connecticut, either going to or returning from Boston.

Leaving Washington a week from tomorrow, Hoover will proceed into the Bay State direct with his train, stopping at Springfield and Worcester for rear platform appearances. At Newtonville, the nominee and his party will detrain for an automobile trip into the city where they will be welcomed by the mayor. After delivering his speech at Mechanics' Hall, on Monday night, October 15, the nominee will start back for Washington, arriving there Tuesday.

Passes Through Valley of Virginia.

In setting out last night from his headquarters for Tennessee, Hoover passed part way down the valley of Virginia over a route which was to be followed only as far as Bristol, Va., where the nominee was to make a brief address to the crowd at the station. There Republican leaders of Virginia, were invited to join the party.

With a detour at Bristol, the route of the special train was directly to the south to the little town of Childers, where the program called for Hoover and his party to detrain and enter Elizabethton by automobile. After passing through the principal streets, a luncheon with the Chamber of Commerce as the host and then rest was the program before going to the natural amphitheatre for the speech.

Hoover's visit to Elizabethton furnished the climax to an historical and industrial celebration there in commemoration of the revolutionary battle of King's Mountain, and for the purpose of dedicating a new silk mill.

Speaks for 45 Minutes.

After the speaking—and Hoover expects to make his address in forty-five minutes—the nominee and his party planned to view a pageant and rest at the hotel until 5:15 p. m., the time set for beginning the journey to Johnson City.

On the completion of his talk to the veterans in a hall which has a capacity of about 2,000 Hoover will be met by a delegation of the chairmen of Republican service men's clubs in the surrounding counties of Tennessee and neighboring states.

From the soldiers' home the party will drive to the John Sevier Hotel in Johnson City where a banquet will be given. At the conclusion of this function, the party will motor to the station and begin the trip to Washington.

POLITE PEKING POLICE IS AIM OF NEW CHIEF.

Peking, Oct. 6 (AP).—Peking's new mayor, General Ho Chi-kung, has decided to organize a model police force. The policemen are to be taught manners and the fine points of "democracy".

General Ho, in an instructional order to the director of public safety, states flatly that all shirkers and policemen with bad habits will be deprived of their jobs unless they mend their ways.

"The policemen of Peking," says the order, "must love the people and prize public property. They must refrain from ill-treatment of the laboring classes and every effort must be made to protect public buildings and their contents."

Rabbi Rose Pleads for Understanding

Uses Massena Affair as Basis of Impassioned Plea for Better Understanding of Jewish Religion Whose Essence is Sacredness of Human Life.

At the Friday evening services in Temple Emanuel, Rabbi Morris Rose spoke of the Massena affair as follows:

"The Massena incident points to an urgent need for a spiritual rebirth in America. A revolution must be wrought in the hearts and the minds of our people. It is incredible and almost inconceivable that in this country, the crown of religious tolerance and human sympathy, intelligent people, men of official position and responsibility should even harbor the suspicion of accusing the Jew of ritual murder.

"Our religion and its teachings are an open book to the entire world for thousands of years and our sublime aspirations in the realm of the spirit, as well as our lofty morality have been the source of inspiration for numberless generations of many nations.

"How dare any civilized man have the audacity to accuse Judaism of blood-thirstiness at the time when Christianity glories in the noble utterances of our sages and prophets.

"Ignorant Russia was educated enough to choose the Passover season for such calumny originating during the twelfth century. Our friends are even guilty of selecting the wrong holy days.

"Is America going to allow that such un-Christian treatment shall be visited upon four millions of its loyal citizens? It is in this country where Jew and Gentile live more intimately in every human endeavor that such torture of the Jewish soul should not have been manifested. The wound penetrates more deeply because it comes to us from our friends. It has been inflicted upon our people at the moment least anticipated.

"In spite of our disillusionment we are compelled to speak. The very essence of our religion is sacredness of human life and yet we are accused demanding blood to appease the God of Love, the Father of all Mankind.

"American leaders in public life and clergy of their respective denominations ought to be awakened to this newly threatening danger, which stands in the way of attaining the ideal of human brotherhood. Hard is the task still ahead of us. Even America is not safe from religious prejudice.

"Thank God the child was found. What guarantee is there against an unruly mob when even the men of authority and power dare suspect the Jew of blood-thirstiness.

"Nothing is further from Judaism than any act which may cause human pain, sorrow and suffering. We plead in the spirit of human love. The time has come for an honest understanding. Christendom owes Judiasm the gratitude of acknowledging the magnitude of the spirit pervading its teachings."

DRAFT REVISION MAY BE UNDER DICUSSION

En Route to St. Louis, Oct. 6 (AP)—Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis, John A. Heydler and Ernest S. Barnard, presidents of the rival major leagues and Michael Sexton, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, met in secret conclave today as their special train sped westward to St. Louis, where the world series will be resumed tomorrow.

The utmost secrecy regarding the nature of their business was preserved, but it was sufficiently important to cause Mr. Heydler to rush at the last moment from the National League special on another line to join the commissioner. The presence of Mr. Sexton, representing the minor leagues, indicated that a draft revision might be under discussion.

RED CROSS ORDERS 7 NURSES TO OLEAN.

Washington, Oct. 6 (AP).—The American Red Cross has ordered seven nurses to proceed immediately to Olean, N. Y., from where reports of typhoid fever have been received.

Miss Marie Whipple, secretary of the Olean Chapter, told national headquarters that she had been requested to take charge of an emergency hospital established by the city. The city is to finance the fight.

Mrs. Charlotte Hellman, national nursing field representative, who is at Niagara Falls, was ordered to take charge of the Red Cross staff.

Boy Kicked in Head by Horse

Raymond Cole, 7, of Linderman avenue extension, was rushed to the City of Kingston Hospital early Friday afternoon in the city ambulance for treatment for injuries to his head received when kicked by a horse. An X-ray will be taken of his injuries to determine their extent. From the story as gathered by the police the boy's elder brother was leading the horse to a brook to water the animal and the little boy was walking behind the horse. Suddenly the elder brother heard Raymond groan and looking back saw him stretched out on the ground. Today at the hospital it was stated that the boy's condition remained about the same. The lad was conscious when removed to the hospital.

Jerry Sampere Kayoed by Court

The Poughkeepsie Evening Star of Friday published the following concerning a marital mixup experienced by Jerry Sampere, army boxer, who fought in Kingston on the last armory card:

Jerry Sampere, local boxer, took the count this morning, not in the prize ring but before Judge Arnold in county court, when he was arraigned on a charge of abandonment and failure to support his two infant children. Judge Arnold ordered him to pay his wife $10 a week, and Sampere put up a howl, protesting that he could not pay; that he gave his wife $20 Tuesday; and that he would have to go to jail. He calmed down eventually, after Judge Arnold ordered him from the courtroom, and said he would try to meet the payment.

Sampere told the court that he made $25 in a fight Monday night at Kingston. The fight was a draw. Of this he gave $20 to his wife and kept $5 himself. He said all his bills were paid, but Miss Anna Platt reminded him that he still owed September's rent bill.

"We agreed to separate," he told the court, "and her lawyer said everything was all right. I don't see why I'm arrested. You'll have to put me in jail; I can't pay it."

Buys an Interest In Keith-Albee

New York, Oct. 6 (AP).—The Radio Corporation of America has purchased an interest in Keith-Albee-Opheum, Inc.

The combined value of the three companies totals nearly $325,000,000. Keith-Albee stocks were strong on the stock exchange today, common mounting to $34.25 and preferred to $102.50, equalling the year's high price. Radio common was selling at $25 a share. The announcement came as a surprise in Wall Street, as Keith-Albee in the last few months has been linked in rumors of mergers with Stanley Company of America, Warner Brothers, First National and Pathe Exchange.

Joseph P. Kennedy, president of Film Booking, has been associated with Keith-Albee for several months. He recently purchased a large interest in Keith-Albee common stock in association with a financial group, including Blair & Company and Lehman Brothers.

Three Injured In Auto Collision

Mrs. Marjorie Mills of Poughkeepsie and her two children, Edward, 11, and Marjorie, 10, were injured Friday evening in a collision between the Oldsmobile driven by Mrs. Mills and a Franklin car driven by William O. Thompson of Woodstock on the Stony Hollow road about a mile and a half from Kingston. In going around a curve in the road the cars met. Mr. Thompson, whose car was not damaged to any extent, brought Mrs. Mills and the children to the City of Kingston Hospital. The two children were able to leave after having some cuts and bruises on their body attended to, but Mrs. Mills remained at the hospital. She was bruised about the body and suffered from shock. Her mother-in-law, Mrs. E. Mills, was also riding with her, but escaped with a shaking up.

AIRPLANES CARRY MAIL ACROSS MEDITERRANEAN

Algiers, Oct. 6 (AP).—An airplane postal service has been started across the Mediterranean from Algiers to Marseilles. It will be maintained by hydroplanes with departures each way twice weekly.

The first day was not propitious to the new service. A strong wind obliged the first hydroplane to turn back to Marseilles in the morning and when it tried again in the afternoon forced the pilot down over the Balearic Islands. He managed to get off for Algiers late in the evening.

Poughkepsie High School Robbed.

Suspend Trooper For His Action in Massena Incident

Major Warner Indefinitely Suspends Trooper Who Questioned Rabbi Concerning Rumor Originating With Youth of Low Mentality After Disappearance of Young Girl.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 6 (AP).—"For gross lack of discretion in the exercise of his duties and for conduct most unbecoming an officer", in what is known as the Massena incident, Corporal H. M. McCann of Troop B, State Police, Malone, yesterday was indefinitely suspended after having been severely reprimanded by Major John Adams Warner, superintendent of State Police.

The action was the culmination of an investigation ordered by Governor Smith, in which charges brought against the corporal by Jewish leaders in the state were heard.

Corporal McCann contended that the idea of questioning Rabbi Berel Brennglass of Massena concerning a rumor that "ritual sacrifices once formed part of the Jewish religion, was suggested to him after examination of a Jewish youth of that village, admittedly of low mentality, as to the whereabouts of a missing child, Barbara Griffith, 4, who was later found.

Louis Marshall, chairman of the American Jewish Committee, demanded a public apology from Mayor G. W. Hawes of Massena, terming his part in the incident a "gross calumny" on the Jewish people.

While nothing is said on the subject in Major Warner's report, the understanding at the Capitol is that Rabbi Brennglass is entirely satisfied at the outcome of the incident, having received apologies from all concerned.

Leaders Consider Incident Closed.

New York, Oct. 6 (AP).—Satisfied with the apology of Mayor H. Gilbert Hawes of Massena, N. Y., for the questioning of a rabbi concerning a ritual murder rumor, Jewish leaders today said they regard the incident as closed.

Mayor Hawes in a letter to Dr. Stephen S. Wise, president of the American Jewish Congress, "clearly and unequivocally" expressed his regret over the affair. Louis Marshall, president of the American Jewish Committee, who had threatened to bring charges against the mayor unless he apologized or resigned, expressed himself as satisfied.

Rabbi Satisfied With Apology.

Rabbi S. Brennglass and J. Shulkin, president of the Jewish Congregation in Massena, in a joint letter to Mr. Marshall, informed him of their satisfaction with the apology.

"We wish to assure you," they wrote, "that we desire to live in peace with our Christian neighbors in Massena and we are entirely satisfied with the sincerity of Mayor Hawkes's expression of regret, and we beg to call your attention to the enclosed letter of regret and apology to us by Corporal McCann.

"In closing we wish to say that it is the unanimous sentiment of the Jews of Massena that, deplorable as the incident was, this is the best public disposition of the matter and the incident should be regarded as closed."

Corporal McCann, a member of the State Police, questioned Rabbi Brennglass after a 4 year old girl disappeared. The girl later was found unharmed. Mr. Marshall charged the questioning at police headquarters was "arranged" by Mayor Hawes.

EUROPEAN MOSLEMS LAG IN WESTERNIZING MANIA.

Serajevo, Jugoslavia, Oct. 6 (AP).—Bosnia, the only oasis of pure Mohammedanism in western Europe, has caught the westernizing fever that is sweeping Islam.

The Bosnians are an orthodox sect of Moslems and have stubbornly preserved their faith through two decades of Christian rule. Reisel-ulema, their spiritual head, has assumed active leadership of the reform movement.

He has the backing of the young Moslems who are dazzled by Mustapha Kemal's program in Turkey and are discontented to live as their forefathers have lived for centuries. For the present the fight centers around the move to discard veils and fezes.

NICARAGUA CHECKS HER GUNS FOR THE ELECTION

Managua, Nicaragua, Oct. 6 (AP).—A total of 24,000 rifles have been turned into marine headquarters or confiscated by the marines and guardia nacional since June 6, 1927, when the conservatives and liberals laid down their arms in accordance with the Henry L. Stimson arrangement and brought the revolution to an end.

Of this total 12,500 rifles have been destroyed as unserviceable, the remaining 11,500 being held in storage for the use of the Guardia Nacional.

PLAN RESTORATION OF OLD DUTCH CHURCH

Harrodsburg, Ky., Oct. 6 (AP).—Another century-old land mark of this bluegrass town, the oldest in the state, is to be restored and preserved through the gift of a deed to the Old Mud Meeting House by the Dutch Reformed Church in America, of New York, to the Harrodsburg Historical Society.

The meeting house was built as a place of worship of a colony of Dutch settlers in 1800. Across a rock foundation, heavy logs were laid and from these, upright logs were placed at intervals. Between these upright standards were a double row of slats packed with a composition of clay and mud. When the preparation dried and hardened, the walls were virtually of mud so that the church received its name "The Old Mud Meeting House."

In the course of years, the mud walls were covered over with weatherboarding. It is the intention of the historical society to remove this covering and restore the walls as they originally were. After the Dutch Reformed congregation ceased worship in the edifice, the Presbyterians held services there at intrvals, but for many years the meeting place has been abandoned and is gradually falling into decay.

The history of the little colony that built the Old Mud Meeting House can be traced back to Europe. Many of its members were of French Huguenot descent, their forefathers having fled to Holland to escape persecution. Intermarrying with the people with whom they settled, they came to America, settling at first in Pennsylvania and migrating to Kentucky.

DOGS HAVE VALETS IN FRENCH CHATEAU

Bonnelles, France, October 6 (AP).—Dog heaven has been discovered at the nearby Chateau de Bonnelles, ancient domain of the Duchess Anne de Rochechouart-Mortmart d'Uzes.

Her twelve hundred hounds live the life that other dogs dream about when they doze after a satisfactory bone. The largest and finest pack in France reside in an immense, well-aired basement hall which once quartered hundreds of troops.

A "chef piqueur" is in command of the dogs and they are cared for by four valets. The daily dinner is typical of the strict obedience and manners required of the pack. The dogs are assembled for exercise in the great courtyard outside their hall bedroom.

They run, frisk, stretch and yawn. As feeding time approaches the excitement becomes intense. While the long troughs are being brought in the the pack, wild with impatience, must remain at the opposite end of the courtyard. At one signal they rush over and take their places and at a second signal the meal begins earnestly and without conversation.

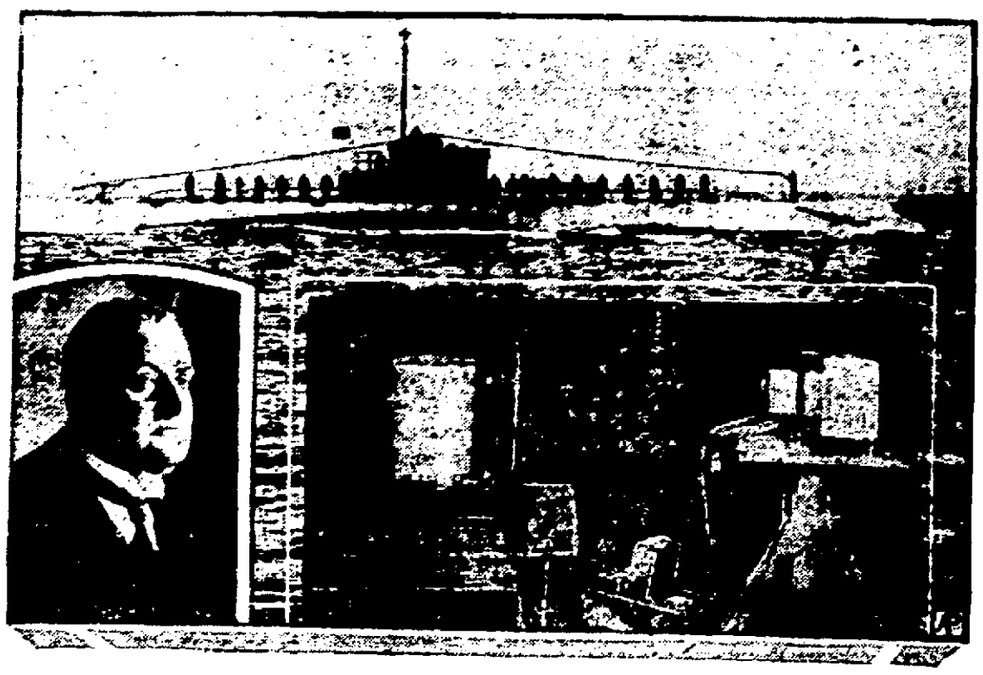
Afterward, like children at a party, the dogs crowd around the keepers and present their muzzles to be washed. That is a dogs life at Chateau de Bonnelles except on great occasions, when the duchess, aged 82, goes hunting.

FOREIGN STEEL MAKERS MAINTAIN PRODUCTION.

Luxembourg, Oct. 6 (AP).—Europe's production of steel for next year will change very little from this years figures. The international steel cartel, meeting here has decided to maintain its tonnage program at the present level of 29,287,000 tons.

The executive committee noted that exports in all classes of products remained constantly firm, but in the interest of stability of production preferred not to depart from its program. The next meeting will take place December 13.

Future Benefits Seen In Navy Expedition



The naval submarine S-21 (above) is proceeding down the Atlantic coast and into the Gulf and Caribbean waters with an international group of scientists aboard to measure the variations in gravity at frequent intervals along the route, a task which eventually may lead to much knowledge of great direct value to man. The scientific work is being directed by Dr. F. A. Vening Meinesz of Holland (left), inventor of the pendulum device (right) which is being used.

DEMONS STILL HAUNT SCOTTISH HIGHLANDS.

Glasgow, Scotland, Oct. 6 (AP).—In the northeast of Scotland belief in black art still hangs on. Witches walk the moors and flit over the fens, or mountains. Spirits and demons remain chained to stone pillars and rocks. Pain and sorrow may be transferred from one person to another by magical means.

Until recently Hallow Fires blazed on the hilltops and Aberdeenshire Highlands. Down to the middle of the nineteenth century the Braemer Highlanders made a circuit of the fields with lighted torches to ward off evil spirits and to ensure a good harvest.

Such is the significance Hallowe'en has to the Scottish Highlanders. At Balmoral, where King George and Queen Mary have a castle, the witch assumes the form of an effigy of an ugly old woman or witch called Shandy Dann. At Kirkwall people used to leap through the flames to cleanse themselves from evil influence.

Dingwall called its witch-burning ceremonial the burning of the crate. On the last night of the year a large crate, filled with combustibles and dragged by a horse, was set on fire, while people danced and shouted about it.

Stonehaven celebrates the last night of the year with a ceremonial called "fireballs." The balls are made of combustibles, well dipped in tar. To each ball a piece of wire is attached, with which the celebrants swing it. As the procession moves up and down the High Street of the old town, the swingers make gleaming circles in the night with their blazing fireballs.

Many Scottish people today believe there is something sacred about pillars of stone. In Aberdeenshire such pillars were believed to be the abodes of spirits and sometimes of demons. Some farmers place upright stones about their fields in the belief that they are propitiating the gods.

FRENCH LEADER SPURNS MODERN SO-CALLED ART

Rambouillet, France, Oct. 6 (AP).—Gaston Doumergue, president of France, balks at cubism. He likes pictures to look like what they represent, quite in the old fashioned way.

These art views of the bachelor president became known through the enthusiasm of the famous French sculptor, Denys Peuch, who is making the official bust of the president.

CANADA FORSEES HIGH MEAT PRICES IN U. S.

Victoria, British Columbia, Oct. 6 (AP).—A long period of high meat prices in the United States and Canada is forecast by the department of agriculture in a survey advising ranchers in western Canada that they may safely prepare for an unprecedented expansion of the cattle raising industry.

FRENCH STUDENTS MUST TAKE REGULAR EXERCISE.

Paris, Oct. 6 (AP).—Eleven regional physical culture training schools have been opened by the government and this year two hours a week must be devoted to exercise in every public school.

This is the real start of school athletics in France, for heretofore exercise has been optional. Teachers have been legally liable for accidents and frowned on sports. Now they will be executing the government's educational program.

In the eleven schools instructors are being trained. Their work also, in need for study of physique by medical students and the students instructors cooperate in physiological laboratory experiments.

Parties Widening Front of Attack as Campaign Grows

Present Presidential Campaign Differs from Predecessors in Failure to Classify Large Percentage of States Definitely as Republican or Democratic—Both Parties Actively On the Job.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 6 (AP).—Still making its own precedents, the national camp enters its concluding weeks with both sides widening, rather than concentrating, the front of their attack.

Election Day now is just one month ahead. In any ordinary campaign the first week of October would see a large percentage of the states so definitely classified as Republican or Democratic as to exclude them from the zone of heavy fire. But not in 1928. The Democrats are expending precious time and talent in such Republican strongholds as Kansas and Iowa, while the Republicans are claiming half the electoral votes of the south and are seeking to carry the Hoover appeal to every voter in states like Georgia and Texas.

One of the most spectacular skirmishes of the whole campaign is taking place in the northern farm belt, where for years the Democratic party has been in hopless minority. Governor Smith's passage through North Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin has been followed by a rallying of his friends and foes alike. Senator Borah, summoning all of his force and eloquence to the support of Hoover, has come into the northwest to answer Smith, and is to be followed in turn by some of the ablest of the Democrats.

The Republicans, including James W. Good, Hoover's western manager, say the northwestern trend is now away from Smith and that earlier Republican apprehensions in that quarter have been replaced by growing confidence. The Democrats still insist that farm defections from Hoover are likely to turn this whole group of states into the Democratic column.

Hoover's Heel on Religious Issue.

While the party leaders were disputing over Hoover's chances in the south, the Republican nominee himself contributed a memorable chapter to the southern campaign by bringing his heel down squarely on the Republican use of the religious issue against Governor Smith.

Repudiating an anti-Catholic tract distributed by Mrs. Willie W. Caldwell, Republican national committeewoman for Virginia, Hoover told party workers directly and explicitly that he wanted none of them to attack his opponent on the ground of religion. He also made known his approval of a similar repudiation addressed by Chairman Work to Oliver D. Street, Republican committeeman for Alabama, who has been describing Catholicism as a "vital issue" in the campaign.

The latest forecast of the election day verdict in the south came from Horace A. Mann, the Hoover southern manager, just on the eve of the nominee's trip today into Tennessee. Mann did not go into details but declared Hoover would get as many electoral votes as Smith in the southern states.

Harrison Claims South for Smith.

Senator Pat Harrison, in charge of that same territory for the Democrats, replied that Mann was only indulging "in a whistling campaign" to keep up his spirits. Harrison said the anti-Smith movement in the south had passed its peak, and the reaction had removed all doubt whether the south would stay solidly Democratic.

Meantime, both sides are keeping actively on the job throughout the whole length and breadth of Dixie, through organizations that now contend in many places down to ward and precinct.

Back in th east Governor Smith has spent the past week helping the New York state Democracy start its campaign, and considering his own plans for the coming month. At the party's convention at Rochester he rendered an account of his stewardship as governor, lambasted the New York Republicans, and was a central figure at the conference which selected his friend, Franklin D. Roosevelt, to head the Democratic state ticket.

Smith is to make another excursion westward during October, dipping into the border strip visited today by Hoover, and winding up with a whirl through the east in the final days of the campaign. He probably will get back into the eastern states just after his Republican opponent who speaks in Boston on October 15, and in New York October 22, has taken the trail back toward his home precinct in California.

Smith Depends on Closing Days.

The New York governor always has been a great believer in the potentialities of the closing days of the campaign and his friends expect him to take things comparatively easy for a while so that he will be in first class stumping trim for the last week before election.

It is not within the province of these dispatches to predict who will win the election a month from today, or what issue, but it at least can be ventured thus early that fewer voters than ever before will enter the voting booth without having heard or read a great deal about the candidates and the issues.

Both parties now have sizeable armies of workers in the field, campaign literature has been distributed by train load, the radio has given many thousands their first opportunity to hear the voice of a presidential nominee, the newspapers the country over are crammed with political news and even in these world's series days, politics is giving baseball a run for its money on the street corner and in the smoking car.

"So I Took My—," Etc.

"Conversation," says a well-known professor of English, "is among the waning arts." As more golfers make holes in one, the fault is being remedied.

Forsyth Sale Closes Today

Today will see the close of the auction sale of the Forsyth articles, and will bring to a close one of the most remarkable sales of its kind ever held in Kingston. When the returns of Thursday's sale were all in, it was found that the day's sales amounted to $22,000, being at least $4,000 more that was roughly estimated.

One of the outstaning sales of Friday was that of a pair of Lowestoft vases for $475 and a smaller single Lowestoft vase with the eagle design for $400. A maple settle brought $380, six maple chairs $18 each and a corner cabinet $100.

Franklin stoves seemed quite popular, bringing from $80 to $125, while a "Chest upon Chest" sold for $750. The last "Bull's Eye" mirror went to Robert T. Sheldon for $500 and a high backed Queen Anne chair with original stenciling brought $155. Brass andirons were sold as high as $125 a pair to Mr. Lyons.

One very interesting sale was that of two very old globes on standards, one of the earth, the other of the heavens, the two selling for $210.

A four-post canopy mahogany bed sold for $400 and two mahogany bureaus brought $250 and $110 respectively. Three hundred dollars was the final bid for a handsome console table.

Among the dealers present from out of town were Miss Roosa from Fishkill, Mrs. Edward Clarkson of Tivoli and Sells of Carmel.

This morning books and the last of the furniture, etc., was sold with every prospect of closing the sale early this afternoon.

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, Oct. 6 (AP).—(State Department of Agriculutre and Markets.)—Despite the fact that cauliflower was in more plentiful supply, the active demand resulted in a further price advance, with the tone of the market stronger. The very finest consignments from Long Island wholesaled as high at $5.50 per crate, while $6 was the top figure on Catskill Mountain shipments. Colorado offerings brought $3.50-$4.

High prices were again realized for fancy, tender string beans and lima beans. Supplies were short and the demand quite brisk. Lima beans of fancy quality commanded as high as $8 per bushel, while the very best green string beans reached $7.50.

Receipts of green peas continued limited. California and Colorado were the chief sources of supply. The market ruled firm with trading moderate. Bushel hampers of green peas jobbed out at $6.75-$7. Upstate New York peas were seldom attractive enough to command more than $3.50.

Upstate New York lettuce prices were again slightly higher, but only on fancy, well-headed stock. Supplies were light and the demand moderate. Sales on crates of two dozen heads of the Big Boston variety were made within the price range of 75c-$2.50. Romaine sold at $1.50-$2.50.

Arrivals of celery from all parts of the state were limited. The demand was equally light and the undertone of the market was rather sluggish. Most business on rough stock was transacted at $2.25-$2.50 per crate.

Prices further slumped on white potatoes. Liberal supplies were on hand at most terminals and the demand was very slow. Upstate New York, round white potatoes in bulk peddled out at principally $2.10 per 180 pounds. Maine cobblers brought $2-$2.15 for the same quantity and Green Mountains $2.15-$2.35.

Although cabbage values were without decided change, the demand was less active. Supplies were moderate. The latest wholesale trading was consummated at $42-$45 per ton on bulk, white domestic, and $45-$50 on the Danish type.

"CONSTITUTIONAL" OFFICER

Since Mr. Hoover's secretary, in a denial given to the press, declared that his chief "has not taken a single drink of intoxicating liquor since he became a constitutional executive of the United States," some of the "purists" in constitutional interpretation have asked and debated whether a secretary of commerce is "a constitutional executive officer," inasmuch as the constitution made no direct provision for the establishment of any executive or administrative departments. It appears to have been assumed by the framers that there would be such departments, however, for the President was empowered to "require the opinion, in writing, of the principal officer in each of the executive departments, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices."

In this connection the Springfield Republican recalls that the actual creation of the departments was the work, not of the Constitution, but of Congress, and that the President's cabinet was created neither by the constitution nor by Congress, but was "established by the extra legal action of President Washington, in accordance with suggestions which had been considered in the Federal Constitutional convention of 1787, though not incorporated in the fundamental law." The debaters of this relatively unimportant point would seem to have the more reason not to regard Mr. Hoover as a "constitutional" executive officer because the Department of Commerce and its twin, the Department of Labor, are the youngest of the executive departments, they having been established as a single department in 1903 and as separate departments as late as 1913.

THE INDIAN VOTE

In view of the traditional strength of the clan feeling among the American Indians there would seem to be basis for the expectation that they will for the most part vote the Hoover ticket because of the Indian ancestry of Senator Curtis. It is naturally supposed that the senator would attract the loyalty as well as capture the interest of his remote relatives, the Indian's ready response to blood kinship having been long attested. The discussion of this matter has brought to public attention the fact that this is the first Presidential year in which the Indian population as a whole will be able to vote, barring exceptions due to personal disqualifications.

Individual Indians, we read, "have long had and exercised this right. But not until the act of Congress passed in June, 1924, conferring citizenship on all Indians born within the territory of the United States, did the tribes living on reservations have the opportunity to take part in elections. Even this was and is subject to state legislation. New Mexico, for example, denies untaxed Indians the right to vote. Elsewhere Indians must pass the same requirements as to age, residence, literacy, etc., as must white residents. Of these various requirements, literacy is likely to disfranchise more Indians than other factors, owing to the number of older Indians who have not learned to read or write." In spite of these handicaps, however, the Indians are regarded as a factor in such states as Oklahoma, the Dakotas, Arizona and New Mexico—although their total number in the whole country is said to be only about 350,000.

NOTICING SLANDER

Mr. Hoover has left it to his secretary to deny the story that he is "a surreptitious and solitary drinker," this and other yarns, of late repeated in the opposition, being said to have started last spring among Republican opponents of his nomination. His chief reason for not personally taking notice of them is said to be his conviction that it is impossible to stop them and that to denounce them merely gives them wider circulation. He found this to be so true in one instance that he was left disposed toward the canny caution of the burnt child that dreads the fire. For it seems that last May he did denounce "the Chinese lie"—whatever that may be—and repented of his indiscretion too late. He read that this one was put in circulation by a weekly sheet printed in Washington and financed by a few disappointed members of his organization, and forgave.

It was reported at various times referred to in a southern paper. His friends advised him to take no notice of it, but Hoover was mad and wrote a hot letter to the editor demanding retraction. Scared, the editor rushed to the senator from his state who advised the editor to let the Congressional Record, thus protecting the editor from libel, and giving the story a country-wide circulation it could never have attained in any other way.

After that Mr. Hoover had enough, and decided that the best thing to do was to keep silent and just "let 'em lie." Whether this policy is the better one or that of Governor Smith, who has personally denounced his slanderers in certain instances, there seems to be a wide difference of opinion.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

BY

James W. Barton, M. D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

PAINFUL JOINTS

If you are having pain and swelling in the joints you are not perhaps particular whether it is called rheumatism or arthritis. All you want is relief from pain and swelling.

Your doctor will tell you that in every case of arthritis or rheumatism there must be some part or joint in the body where poison is being manufactured, and it is this poison that gets into the joints and causes the trouble.

About twenty years ago it was thought that most cases of joint infection were due to a sore throat or bad tonsils.

And in a great many cases there was a history of a sore throat just a little previous to the joint infection.

Then it was found that infected teeth were responsible for a great many cases, and so teeth and tonsils were given the credit, or discredit, for the joint conditions.

Later it was found that pyorrhoea, or pus about the gums, was another cause.

Gradually other sources of infection were found, so that now it is thought that anywhere in the body a focus, or place of infection, may be found, whose product may cause rheumatism.

Dr. S. Brockover analyzed 119 cases of rheumatism or arthritis and found that about 85 per cent of all these cases were due to infections of throat, teeth and gums.

Now in the light of these figures it does seem strange that sufferers with these painful joints will go along day after day, satisfied to use some form of pill, powder or liquid medicine that will relieve the pain.

No one can blame them for wanting to be relieved of the pain, but when the cause has been pointed out to them by their doctor as being due to infected teeth or tonsils, and they would sooner use a pain killer than have teeth or tonsils removed, you wonder at their lack of wisdom or common sense.

Just one more point for them to think about.

Most cases of heart disease can now be definitely traced to rheumatism or arthritis, and rheumatism or arthritis is generally due to the infections mentioned above.

MANCHURIANS FLOUNDER IN SEA OF CHEAP MONEY.

Harbin, Manchuria, Oct. 6 (AP).—The currency chaos in Manchuria threatens to become worse. At present there are thirteen different kinds of currency in circulation which keeps travelers "running about in circles" when they pass from one part of the country to another.

To complicate matters the brass perforated money, once the only fractional currency, has been coming back. Its exchange value is only one-tenth of a "single" copper.

Most of the currency is paper and owing to the great variety in everyday usage exchange has become the chief source of profit of the native banks and the money exchanges.

STORK ALSO BRINGS WEATHER IN EUROPE.

Strasbourg, Oct. 6 (AP).—Alsatian storks predict an early and severe winter for Europe. Bands of these birds which are so sensitive to cold began to gather for the southern flight before the middle of August.

Large groups of them flying south to winter quarters were seen passing over St. Etienne and La Roche-Moliere in central France weeks before the usual period of their annual passage.

TWENTY AND TEN YEARS AGO.

Oct. 6, 1908.—Joseph M. Fowler renominated for member of assembly by Republicans of First district.

Alfred E. Moore died at his home on Spring street.

Oct. 6, 1918.—At the Rally Day services at Rondout Presbyterian Church it was announced that the trustees of the church had decided to purchase $2,000 Liberty Bonds.

The recently elected officers of Congregation Agudas Achim were installed.

Miss Louise Monnecke died at the home of her sister, Mrs. C. L. Krantz, on Prince street.

HERBERT HOOVER

A Reminiscent Biography
By WILL IRWIN

(Excerpt from the book published by The Century Co.)

XI. Breakneck Work—and Recreation

As director of Belgian relief, as in his active engineering days, Hoover again lived on the run. Home harbors figured in his itinerary; he must keep watch on the New York office, must report to the government at Washington. In 1915 he found that someone had slandered the commission to the state department. Franklin K. Lane got him a hearing at the White House, his first meeting with Woodrow Wilson. Hoover cleared away the garbage and left with a warm, unqualified statement, signed by the President, approving the commission.

In Europe he made his grand tour on an average of once every five weeks. From London he would cross the channel to Havre, where sat the refugee Belgian government. He first met King Albert in a house that was gradually crumbling under shell fire; that night, visited the front trenches. Thence he passed to Paris; across the border into Switzerland; on to Berlin. After that, usually, German headquarters at Charleville. During one of his early visits the Germans invited him to make a tour of the front. The invitation was so phrased that it seemed a challenge to his courage. He accepted, and took in the German trenches another baptism of fire.

Next, Brussels; on to Rotterdam, and to the passage down the North Sea. This crossing he made more than forty times during the war. Across the course lay mine-fields, set down by all the belligerent nations. Eventually six vessels out of seven on this run either went down or were towed disabled into port.

Nothing in this demeanor during these strange years became him like his silence. There he was, ricocheting from German front to Allied front—the only man in the world so privileged. The things he could have spilled! Yet never once did he slip even the name of Charleville, that town where Germany kept its great headquarters. His silence was the price of his mobility.

The staff took personal pride in his growing reputation. He had tossed aside his business to relieve Belgium; he was serving without salary and paying his own traveling expenses; and he seemed bent on fighting even fame. Yet in spite of himself his fame grew. European governments tried to load him with decorations, offered him jobs which meant money, glory, honorary titles. These he declined; and to his friends expressed irritation. What did they take him for? He was an American; this wasn't our war! Besides he didn't propose to abandon Belgium. In 1915 I entered the office in London to find one of the directors laughing over a dispatch. "Here you are!" he exclaimed. "A town in the Meuse district has named its main street after the chief. He can't bear it!"

He was working in bursts of breakneck speed. His associates worried for fear he would break down. It seemed impossible that any man could carry so much without a collapse. However, he used his own common sense; rested and diverted himself in the lulls. In this matter as in everything else, he is individual. He likes to make things with his hands. Once, in London, I found him and Edgar Rickard amusing themselves in his garden by engineering back into place a great branch broken by a storm from an old oak tree. Again, calling with a party at his country bungalow near Washington, I was hailed from the tree-tops. Hoover and his two boys were building a tree-house.

However, his main strength is in the touch of the soil. Often during this period he would steal a day, put into his car skeleton cooking equipment gather up his family and one or two old, restful friends, motor into the English or French countryside. Finding an imitation at least of rustic seclusion, he would build a fire, cook bacon and eggs for the whole party. Conspiring with him, the rest kept conversation away from Belgium relief. He talked of old college days, of adventure in China; or swept the party into a discussion of abstract politics and pure science. As for the war, we touched only on its humors. On one of these excursions I noticed a fleck of white at his temples. Hitherto he had looked absurdly young, even for his years.

When agents of the commission first went into Belgium he asked them as a personal favor to collect any war documents that came their way. These he stored in Belgium and shipped to Stanford after the war. Friends of all nations added their mites. Most of the separate items were almost worthless at the moment; but time and aggregation have made them supremely valuable. Out of this grew the Hoover War Library—hundreds of thousands of original, irreplaceable documents.

Toward the end of 1916, the commission stood established in the warhabits of Europe. Hoover even talked of resigning. At any rate he could come home; make America his base. In the last fortnight of 1916 he sailed again for New York—the second trip to the United States since the war began.

WARSHIPS PLAY ROLE OF GOODWILL ENVOYS.

Buenos, Aires, Oct. 6 (AP).—With the arrival in the River Plate of the British warship Capetown, the white ensign of the British navy has appeared in the harbor of Buenos Aires five times in less than four months.

Meanwhile, no United States warship of any class has visited the east coast of South America this year and the next appearance of the American flag on this continent will be in April, 1929, when the Pacific fleet plans to come down the west coast as far as Valparaiso.

Citizens of the United States residing here believe that their country might take a leaf from the British naval book. Frequent visits of single craft or small squadrons are considered more beneficial to the cause of friendship that rare visits by the fleet.

When British warships are in port they are usually thrown open to the public.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

LACE FOR CEREMONIAL OCCASIONS IN JEWEL TONES PROPER

New York—There is, so we are told, a time and a place for all things. Unfortunately many, succumbing to the lure of the lace gown, forget this. It is astonishing how many women wear lace, like diamonds, at the wrong time.

Lace belongs to the more formal moments of life—the ceremonious luncheon, the equally ceremonious tea, and is, of course, in excellent taste any hour after dinner. But lace in the morning. Lace on the street out shopping—or going to business! The temptation to fall into such evil ways no doubt has arisen from the character of the laces in vogue—

Afternoon Frock of Beige and Black Lace. The Blouse Is Softly Draped With a Pearl Barrette in the Front. The Skirt Has Two Flounces Slightly Longer in the Back. The Sleeves Are a Trifle Short, Scarcely Reaching the Wrist. (Sketched for Fairchild.)

heavy, sturdy looking meshes, dyed in glowing colors, such as the jewel tones, sapphire, amethyst, ruby, emerald and so on. Sapphire, in fact all blues, are very much worn this fall, while many black and beige laces are seen they lack the ability, apparently, to offset the urge for brighter hues.

If you are to be a spectator at a smart wedding this autumn, or are called upon to play any part from that of the bride down, lace presents a nice solution to your dress problem. Jewel-colored laces are striking, and practical at the same time. Chenille dotted nets give a piquant Spanish touch, flattering to some types and quite justified at this time.

Oysters Make Mischief

Wireless under-water experiments off Hatteras, North Carolina, had to be abandoned because the oysters "hummed." The delicate mechanism was put out of gear by the oysters' noise, which resembles a person humming a tune.

ELEANOR GUNN On Fashions

PARIS LAUNCHES FURS IN SEVERAL AMUSING WAYS

New York—Many amusing ways of introducing furs are reported this season, several of them from Paris. There is, most extraordinary of all, the fur necklace fashioned of ermine or mink tails in conjunction with diamonds and pearls. It is hardly a fashion which will become general, but is indicative of the interest manifested in pelts at this time.

Fur shoes are another sensational item. Pony, shaved goat, calf and furs of that ilk have been found not impossible to handle for footwear, and make up in style what they may possibly lack in comfort. Fur handbags are being offered in many wearable forms.

The keen interest shown in fur jackets has added impetus to the fur suit, an ultra, but by no means undesirable form of fur garment. Naturally fur fabrics are also used for this purpose, but it has been demonstrated that broadtail and other supple furs are quite feasible for the suit, supplemented with a handsome blouse or of the jumper or, newer still, tuck-in persuasion. Paton and others of the grande couture have enlarged upon the tuck-in theme. It seems to be meeting with response not alone for sports wear, but for more formal costumes.

Fur and velvet are old affinities, but fur is coupled with many of the stunning new wool and metal and wool mixtures.

Novelty Woolen Combines With Sheared Lamb to Provide the Costume Which Adopts a Full-Length Straightline Coat, With Separate Woolen Scarf. The Little Round Muff Is An Interesting Accessory. The Little Bows on the Pumps Are Also of Fur.

A Tailored Suit in Sheared Lamb Has a Wraparound Skirt Which May Be Unsnapped When Indoors, Revealing a Complete Two-Piece Dress in Silk or Lightweight Woolen. Below, Again the Hat Is of the Same Fur, and the Little Cravat Tie Is Fastened. (Sketched for Fairchild.)

Carey Treats Fans At Woodstock

World Series Brings Public Display—Harrison Injured at Bearsville—Other Woodstock Notes.

Woodstock, Oct. 6.—Leon P. Carey, proprietor of The News shop, installed this week a public radio speaker and has been giving the world series baseball plays from his window. This is the first time anyone in Woodstock has offered the public such display of the national sport activities, and there have been both artists and native residents gathered about The News Shop each afternoon, forming a crowd of baseball fans.

Henry Mattson and wife have gone to New York city for two or three weeks' stay. Mr. Mattson is to have a one-man show of his paintings at the F. K. Bohn Galleries this month.

S. B. Lounsbery has purchased of Lewis Harder, Bearsville, a tract of land with 500 feet fronting the Yerry road leading to Ohio mountain, an attractive site for development.

Nandor Harmati, who recently purchased the Van de Bogart farmstead at Shady, has made arrangements to install electricity in the residence. Through S. B. Lounsbery Agency, Mr. Harmati has purchased this week an additional ten acres of land from William Davis. Mr. Harmati is in Omaha at present; he plans to spend the winter in Europe, returning to his new place next spring.

Ralph Harrison had the misfortune to injure a foot while working on the new pipe line being installed by the Kingston City Water Works Department. The accident happened near Bearsville, when a large pipe was dropped on Harrison's foot. Mortimer Downer, Jr., was called to dress the injury.

Nicaragua Mystery Man Seldom Comes Within Range Of Shooting

Managua, Nicaragua, Oct. 6 (AP).—General Augusto Sandino, Nicaraguan rebel leader who has frequently declared his intention of fighting until the United States marines withdraw, is Central America's "man of mystery".

He has not been seen by any member of the marine corps for a year and he has not been known to appear at any settlement for the last six months.

From letters which have fallen into the hands of the marines recently, it seems practically certain that the rebel chief has confined his movements to a comparatively small area in the two northern provinces, Jinotega and Nueva Segovia, near the Honduras border. With virtual control of the 350-mile course of the Coco River in the hands of the marines, due to the recent effective drive of Captain Merritt A. Edson's patrol and the marine airplanes, the situation is not at all precarious, in the opinion of marine headquarters.

"This does not mean, says a statement from marine headquarters, "that it is impossible for the outlaws to make any further demonstration or to push a rapid raid through the northern outposts stretched over an area greater than the state of Massachusetts. It does mean that the disposition of troops and lines of information are such that the outlaws can neither accomplish any results of major importance nor prevent the successful holding of the election in November."

The remnants of the rebel forces are split into four small groups, with Sandino himself hovering near the border in the jungles of the northern area, if not actually in Honduras. Within a radius of perhaps 75 miles southeast, south, and southwest, respectively, are the three other groups in minor numbers and in hiding through the jungle along the river beds. These groups are separated from each other by numerous small marine detachments and lack of contacts recently indicates that these rebel groups have no desire for an engagement, according to marine opinion.

Sandino keeps himself clear of possible disaster by directing his forces from a distance. It is said the nearest he has ever been known to approach the fighting line was at Ocotal in July, 1927, when the rebels attacked a small force of marines and guardia nacional with disastrous results to their forces and the loss of only one marine killed and half a dozen guardia wounded. It was said at that time that he was at least 2,000 yards from the fighting line.

COLOMBIA WILL JOIN IN U. S. PEACE MOVE.

Bogota, Colombia, Oct. 6 (AP).—The minister of foreign affairs, Carlos Uribe, informed the Associated Press that Colombia would participate in the western hemisphere conference at Washington next December, pledged to obligatory arbitration of international differences.

It will not be determined for some time whether the instructions to Colombia delegates will include any special projects and reservations or not.

It is understood that the foreign office wants to make a prolonged study of the question before submitting it to the cabinet. The minister said:

"We are, not a military power and we do not aspire to be one."

TRADE COMPELS NUNS TO ABANDON QUARTERS.

Havana, Oct. 6 (AP).—Cuba's famous Carmelite nuns have been forced by pressure of commercial expansion to abandon the sequestered retreat which has been occupied by the order since 1700.

The low, rambling building of Moorish-Spanish type, the massive walls covered with the moss of centuries and the altar containing the remains of Cuba's first bishop, will soon be razed to make room for shops and office buildings.

Wired the Red Seal Way

This attractive residence, located at 33 Derrenbacher Street, is representative of the attractive modern homes to be found in Kingston. Four bedrooms, dining room, living room, kitchen, kitchenette, sun parlor and bathroom make it an ideal home for the average family. A two car garage is another feature of this attractive place. There is hot water heat and, best of all, the house is wired according to Red Seal requirements.

J. H. Schoonmaker, builder of this house, had it wired the Red Seal way because he knows from experience that a Red Seal home on the market meets the popular specifications. Plenty of convenience outlets and light switches, thanks to Red Seal wiring, mark it as house of convenience. This house is for sale and Mr. Schoonmaker will be glad to show it.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 6 (AP).—Speculation for the advance was resumed on a broad scale in today's brief session of the market under the leadership of the independent motor shares. Powerful pools took enormous blocks of stocks at rising prices, early gains ranging from 1 to nearly 6 points. There were several soft spots, due to heavy week-end profit-taking.

Outside the stock market, chief interest centered in the announcement that the Radio Corporation had purchased an interest in Keith-Albee-Orpheum, Inc., The United Biscuit Company, Safeway Stores and the Fairchild Aviation Co., announced recapitalization plans. Bullish sentiment was created by the optimistic tenor of the weekly mercantile reviews.

Chrysler was again the market leader, moving up to a new high record at 140½ after having dipped to 136⅝ in an early outbreak of selling. Studebaker and Hupp attained new peak prices at 83¾ and 79½, respectively. Hudson ran up 4¾ points and Motor Products jumped 7¾.

Rails were quiet and sluggish, St. Louis Southwestern falling back 2 points.

The closing was strong. Total stock sales approximated 2,000,000 shares.

Kellogg to Quit When Term Ends

Washington, Oct. 6 (AP).—Secretary Kellogg today made it known that he would resign at the end of President Coolidge's administration.

It was also stated on behalf of the secretary that he had no desire to be reappointed to head the State Department, a post which he has held since the resignation of Charles E. Hughes.

Kellogg assumed office on March 4, 1925. The announcement of his intention to retire voluntarily from active public life came as no surprise to department officials who have known for some months that this was his purpose and that he was remaining to the end of the Coolidge administration only because of party considerations and to accomplish his greatest remaining ambition, the ratification by the senate of the new anti-war treaty.

Only Two States Have No Gas Tax

Florida Autoists Pay Most With Average Last Year of $28 for Each Motorist—North Dakota and Minnesota Paid Lowest Tax.

Washington, Oct. 6.—Motorists of Florida last year paid an average of $28 in taxes on gasoline purchased, and led all other states in per capita revenue paid in the form of gasoline taxes, according to a survey just made by the American Motorists Association, showing the amount and the average gasoline tax paid by the motorists in each state.

South Carolina motorists, paying a gasoline tax of $25 each, ranked second, followed by Alabama, Georgia and New Mexico motorists, each paying a per capita gasoline tax of $24. The tax in Florida, South Carolina and New Mexico for 1927 was five cents per gallon, while the tax in the other two leading states was four cents per gallon.

The smallest tax was paid by motorists of North Dakota and Minnesota, each paying a gasoline tax of $9 in 1927. Kansas, Missouri and Wisconsin motorists each paid $9 in gasoline taxes.

An analysis of the taxes paid by the motorists in the 48 states and the District of Columbia shows that the average tax was 2.76 cents per gallon. During the year the gasoline tax was increased in 23 states, while in two states, viz., New Jersey and Illinois, for the first time gasoline taxes were levied. In Illinois the tax was discontinued on February 28 of this year, after it had been declared unconstitutional by the Illinois Supreme Court. But two states now remain in the gasoline tax-free column, these being Massachusetts and New York, with the added exception that Illinois is, at the present time, tax-free insofar as its motorists' gasoline bills are concerned.

From a revenue standpoint, the state of California ranks first, the motorists of that state, paying an average gasoline tax last year of $13, paid into the state treasury $22,467,082. Second on the list of revenue producers is Ohio, each motorist having paid an average of $13 or an aggregate total of $19,910,481, followed by motorists of Pennsylvania paying an average of $11 each, and an aggregate of $17,296,333.

Following are the revised gasoline tax figures for last year, showing the amount paid by the motorist in each state, and the average gasoline tax per vehicle:

Americanism: Feeling superior to foreigners; wishing you could talk their language.

Too many people are trying to win half mile runs in one hundred yard dash time.

Life is like a journey
Taken on a train,
With a pair of travelers
At each window pane.
I may sit beside you
All the journey through
Or I may sit elsewhere,
Never knowing you.
But if fate should mark me
To sit by your side,
Let's be pleasant travelers;
It's so short a ride.

"Darling," he cried, covering her little hand with kisses, "can't you see I love you?"

"Well," she said, "I should hate to think this was just your way of behaving in company."

Hush little chorus girl,
Don't you cry,
You'll get a man
To buy and buy.

Nobody ever seems to grumble about the price of luxuries.

"How about the bootleg goods in this town?" inquired the stranger of the hotel clerk.

"In what way?" asked the clerk.

"Is it potent?"

"'Potent' is the word, sir. Why a gentleman who was stopping with us went to the theatre one night. He stepped out during an intermission and purchased a drink or two in a nearby alley. Then he returned to the theatre."

"Well, what's so remarkable about that?"

"He wasn't aware, sir, until the doorkeeper kindly told him, that it was the next night."

It was his first visit to a church, and as the usher approached with the collection plate, he whispered to his companion:

"How much do you usually tip the minister?"

Gee, I'm glad I'm not a hero. Folks let me sleep.

To be busy each day keeps old age away. That's what makes us look so young.

As the plumber entered the house he met Bjones and his wife in the hall.

"Before we go downstairs," said the methodical Bjones to the plumber, "I wish to acquaint you with the trouble."

"I'm very pleased to meet you," said the plumber as he bowed to Mrs. Bjones.

FRANCE HAS NEW SHRINE TO NAPOLEON THE GREAT

Aix Island, France, Oct. 6 (AP).—The house where Napoleon the Great spent his last three nights on French soil after Waterloo, before surrendering to the English, has been converted into a national museum.

The inhabitants of the district around La Rochelle have named the building the "Emperor's House." Corsica, Elba, Aix and Saint-Helena are the four islands which mark the destiny of Napoleon.

The house on the island of Aix, probably the least celebrated of the four, contains the table on which Napoleon wrote his letter surrendering to the English. There can also be seen the bed where he slept during his last night on French soil.

Finest Lighthouse in World To Be Monument to Columbus

Santo Domingo (above), which Columbus founded and where he spent his happiest days, is to erect a $4,000,000 lighthouse, to enclose his tomb (lower left), now in the Cathedral of Santo Domingo, and serve as a leading monument to the discoverer. Designs for the memorial, including an airport site, have been received from more than 1,000 architects throughout the world in a competition supervised by the Pan American Union. At the upper right is part of Columbus' house in Santo Domingo.

Yankees Capture First Two Games Of World's Series

Cardinals' Hitting Slump Continues and Yanks Take Both Home Games—Resume Series Sunday In St. Louis—Johnson May Face Jesse Haines.

New York, Oct. 6 (AP).—The Cardinals, winging their way westward to St. Louis today, face a hard assignment when they get home. They must win two World Series games before they can look eye to eye with the New York Yankees.

A World Series hitting slump, descending on the National League champions in the first game, remained with them to the end of the second and although the Yankees offered only a medium brand of hitting in the second set-to they managed to get enough safeties to score a 9 to 3 victory, with some odd bases on balls contributing.

The Yankees accumulated one more hit in the second game than they did in the first, but their margin of superiority over their rivals was not so great as in the opener. The American Leaguers outhit the Red Birds 7 to 3 in the initial bout, 8 to 4 in the second, but the run margin was wider, 9 to 3, as compared with 4 to 1.

The World Series was declared in recess today to permit a change of scene, a day and night of travelling being necessary to span the thousand miles separating New York and St. Louis.

A change of tactics will be ordered when the series is resumed tomorrow. Manager Bill McKechnie has sent two pitchers against the Yankees who rely on equipment other than speed to get them by. With both Bill Sherdel and Grover Alexander in the loss column, he will turn to Jess Haines and his fast ball in a desperate effort to get into the win column.

Bill was not managing St. Louis two years ago but he knows that big Jess of Phillipsburg, Ohio, shut out the Yanks in Sportsman's Park in 1926 and helped himself along with a home run. Bill can use a shutout or home run, or both. Going home with two defeats and only two more needed to produce a situation unique in World Series history, the St. Louis manager finds himself in a position where something must be done and that quickly. The Yankees by getting off to a lead of two victories in the current classic have won six World Series games in a row, as they stopped the Pittsburgh Pirates in four straight last year; they have a chance to do it again and no club has ever cleaned up two World Series at the minimum distance.

Huggins May Pitch Johnson.

Playing on velvet, Manager Miller Huggins will ponder as he rides to St. Louis over his selection of a Sunday pitcher. If he had lost the second game and been forced to enter the Missouri City all even with his opponents, he would not have been in doubt. Tom Zachary, the experienced lefthander who has been in two previous world series wearing the spangles of Washington would have been nominated without a dissenting voice.

But in a position to take a "chance", "Hug" may call on Henry Johnson, young righthander who had a great first year in the American League. He has seen two sturdy righthanders halt the Cardinals with only seven hits against the pair, and he does not know what they can do against southpaw hooks.

Old Grover Alexander, sent out to bring home the bacon as he did two years ago, was found wanting in the second game of the series and lasted only two and one-third innings, retiring in confusion with a liability of six hits, four bases on balls and six runs. Two of the three men he left on the bases scored and they were added to his account under the scoring rules of baseball, leaving the farmer-soldier-pitcher finally responsible for eight of the nine runs the Yankees counted.

Another veteran, Clarence Mitchell, came in when it was too late to pitch a clever game, and the lefthanded spitballer probably will be seen again before the bats are finally placed in storage for the winter.

With his far famed control lacking, old Alex could only call on his courage to see him through, and with no assistance from the arm that the ball players say "can hit a dime", he was fighting a losing game from the start.

Pipgras Good After Third.

George Pipgras staggered through the first two innings, the Cardinals knotting the count at three-all in the second inning, but from the third to the ninth, inclusive, he never was really in danger. The Cards had only two chances over that distance to score. Frankie Frisch singled to open the third and stole second but Bottomley struck out, the first of three extreme failures at bat for the first baseman who did the Cardinal hitting in the opener, and Hafey's test was a roller on which Frisch ran to third. Harper then fanned. Frisch again singled and stole second in the eighth, but otherwise no Cardinal got as far as second and only two as far as first.

Chick Hafey who batted hard and often against National League pitching had no more success against Pipgras than he did with Hoyt's puzzlers. The Cardinal slugger has seen first base only from a distance in the first two games. Bottomley was even more impotent. The only thing he hit was a pop foul, striking out in his last three turns at bat.

Babe Ruth, who until yesterday had never been able to hit Alexander, singled in the third inning after walking in the first and made it two hits out of three times at bat by doubling off Mitchell. And then to boost his world series strikeout record, he fanned on his last appearance.

Lou Gehrig was the second day's home run hitter, landing a drive in the right center bleachers that stands at the moment as the longest hit of the series.

AMERICAN LEAGUE STAR SOUTHPAWS

Records in baseball speak louder than words and the records for the year of these two stellar southpaws is a large way account for the commanding lead held by the Yankees and the Athletics over the other clubs in the American league.

Before going out of the game in the middle of August with a sore arm, Pennock had contributed 17 victories against six losses to the Yankee cause, for an average of .739, while Lefty Grove's fine average of around .750 has done much to keep the Athletics in the race.

Last season Pennock won 19 games and lost eight, while Grove won 20 and lost 13. Pennock allowed the Pittsburgh Pirates only three hits in the third game of the world series to give the Yankees their third consecutive win by the score of 8 to 1.

Connie Mack relieved the Philadelphia Athletic's treasury of $105,000 when he purchased Grove from the Baltimore Orioles in the winter of 1924. This sum represented the largest amount ever spent for a pitcher. The terms of the sale by which Grove went to the Athletics called for the money to be paid in annual installments for a period of eleven years. This eased the burden, but the cash will be paid just the same.

Pennock has been in the American league for fourteen years although he is only thirty-two years old. Connie Mack also introduced this star lefthander to the ways of the big leagues. Back in 1912 the high school nine of Kennett Square, Pa., had a tall gangling youth as pitcher who was winning games consistently. Following his schooldays he joined the Kennett Square Independent club. Philadelphia newspapers began to carry stories of the eighteen-year-old wonder down at Kennett Square. Connie Mack was interested and one day he made a trip to the scene of Herb Pennock's activities and returned with a signed contract.

When Lefty came to the Athletics from the Orioles he had a failing which is common among twirlers breaking into the big show. He had a world of speed and a lot of stuff, but he knew next to nothing about the science of pitching. Connie Mack and Ira Thomas tackled the job of revamping Grove's style. The experiment was successful. Grove is twenty-eight years old. He was born at Longreaching, Md., on March 6, 1900. He broke into professional ball with Martinsburg in the Blue Ridge league in 1920 and early in the season was bought by Baltimore.

Stiffest Grid Schedule Fixed for Northwestern

Sixty-one men, including fourteen lettermen, reported to Dick Hanley, coach of the Northwestern university football team, and from among them

he will groom an eleven to face one of the stiffest grid schedules in the history of the university.

The squad stacks up as one of the lightest in the conference. Hank Sinkler, tackle, the heaviest man on the squad, weighs 198 pounds and there are few other heavy lads on the list. Walter Holmer, fullback, will direct the play of the team on the field.

The schedule includes games with Butler, Ohio State, Kentucky, Illinois, Minnesota, Purdue, Indiana and Dartmouth.

YANKEES' SIXTH STRAIGHT WIN TIES THE RECORD

New York, Oct. 6 (AP).—The Yankees, by winning their sixth successive world's series game, tied the record winning streak in baseball's championship classic.

The old Chicago Cubs won six straight by taking the last four games in a row from Detroit in 1907 and capturing the first two games of the series against the same club in 1908. The Boston Red Sox equaled this by taking four straight from the Phillies in 1915, after dropping the opener, and then beating Brooklyn in the first two games of the 1916 series.

The Giants of 1921-22 have a record of winning seven games without meeting defeat in their inter-city strife with the Yankees, but a tie game in 1922 broke up the string. McGraw's men won the last three games of the 1921 series, captured the opener in 1922, tied the next and then won three straight to take the title.

Mayo to Meet McVeigh Here

Feature Attraction Expected to Give Plenty of Action—Charlie Molvin and Dewey Van Buren on October 15 Card.

Mickey McVeigh, Newburgh lad star, who recently scored a win over Willie Herman of the Holy City, will oppose Eddie Mayo of the local infantry in the feature attraction at the card of sports in the local armory on Monday night, October 15.

McVeigh has scored consistently over some of the best men in the army ranks of Gotham. He showed some class when he took a decision over Johnny Ross, Bobby Hasty being defeated in the seconds of the first round at the meeting here on September [illegible]. The knockout registered by McVeigh will long be remembered by fans who filled the armory for the card, and undoubtedly these same lovers of the fistic art will crowd the armory for his next appearance here.

Eddie Mayo is one of the best fighters in the 369th Infantry. He holds wins over Jack Higgins, Frank Lepera and Walter Handle, well known to followers of army matches. Right now he is conducting a successful march to higher ranks in the business of fistic entertainment and plans on beating McVeigh. A win over Mickey will set him right for some big New York city scraps.

Charlie Molvin, who lost to Jimmy Howard at the last show, will try to cover up his first defeat in some time by putting it over on Frank McCutland. The latter boy, according to Jimmy Ambrose, army matchmaker, is a comer and hard to score over. Molvin is working out daily at the Studer gym to be in first-class shape for the battle.

Jerry Sampere of Newburgh will again meet Albert De Lamont in a four rounder. These boys went nip and tuck for a quartet of stanzas at the last armory show.

Dewey Van Buren of this city will mix it with Kid McNaughton of Newburgh. They are scheduled to do four rounds.

Captain E. C. Lawson, local man in charge of the fights, will have another bout to announce in the near future.

Notre Dame, Navy to Clash Before a Crowd of 165,000

What may be the largest American football crowd is expected to fill every one of the 165,000 seats in Soldiers' Field (above), Chicago, for the Notre Dame-Navy game, October 13. Chandlers to Enter League

Local Basketball Team Will Enter North Eastern League—Jimmy Merritt Now Playing With Them.

The Kingston Chandler team that was organized last fall and which established such a wonderful record that has not been surpassed by any local team, will enter the North Eastern League and will again be active on the court playing outside games, according to information received from "Pop" Hinds, their well known coach.

The Chandler team was equipped by Mr. Longendyke when they first started out to build up a reputation for themselves which was done in great measure by the splendid coaching of "Pop" Hinds. The original seven men were: Fox, Blass, Dulin, Niles, Kennedy, Hoffman and Smith. These men worked good together and won game after game until they won the admiration of the public, who willingly supported them.

In the middle of the season last year the Chandlers lost one of their best forwards, Smith. Just why he left the team and went with the Red Shields, was never known, but Smith's leaving the team was quite a blow. Mr. Hinds had the problem before him of getting another good man to take his place. "Hank" Krum, who played with the Congregationalists in the Sunday School League, seemed to have the requirements that "Pop" Hinds demanded and Krum was given a chance to prove his ability. "Hank" was given the opportunity to play pivot man in a few games and it was not long after that he was a regular.

Jimmy Merritt was secured by Mr. Hinds to play with the Chandlers this season. Jimmy played with the "Red Shields" for several seasons and was classed as the best forward in Kingston. With Merritt added to the team the Chandlers are looking forward to a good season. Coach Hinds has not put his men through any workouts yet but expects to have them in shape to enter the North Eastern League which will begin early in November.

Immanuels Beat "Y. M." Bowlers

The Immanuel bowling team defeated the Y. M. C. A. representatives by 341 pins at Immanuel bowling alleys Friday night in a practice game. Bill Thiel of the winning team did the stellar scoring of the night with 568 points to his credit. Fessenden and Petri, also of the Immanuels, got into the 500 class, by spilling the pins for 528 and 519 respectively. Bedford and Coley did the high scoring for the "Y" with 462 and 460 respectively.

The session was to get the players in shape for the City Bowling League opening, which will take place in the near future.

Yellow Jackets Will Play Strong Team Sunday

Local Eleven Will Meet Troy Bearcats at Fair Grounds Sunday Afternoon at 3 o'clock—New Players Will be Seen in Action.

As every detail has been looked into for the promotion of a "hammer and tongs" football contest at the Kingston Fair Grounds Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, only the appearance of a sunny smile by the weather god on the Yellow Jacket-Troy Bearcat tilt, remains to complete a satisfactory program for fans of the gridiron game.

The Yellow Jackets, who staged a number of successful practice sessions this week under the supervision of Coach Preston, are ready to take up their winning streak again after dropping a contest to the West Point Artillery last Sunday. The setback was the first since the organization of the team two years ago. The locals have mastered a routine of football strategy as well as strengthening themselves physically since the opening game of the season a week ago, which is expected to play a big hand towards a win.

Owing to a shift in the lineup Winter will call signals this Sunday instead of Joe Hoffman, who will play halfback. Winter has had experience in playing quarterback in collegiate football and likely will prove proficient in the game with the Bearcats. Colvin will play the other halfback position with Harbrouck at fullback. Leverett, Cirone, Milliken and Maroon will be the reserves.

Jimmy Cassidy, experienced center, will take Len O'Reilly's place on the line. This player along with possessing skill in tossing the pigskin to the backs, is a very capable man on the defense.

Playing the guard positions will be Rose and Schultz, with Howard and Terwilliger at the tackles. Rice and Scheffel will start in the end positions. Atchinson is pretty certain to be used in at least one half, and Winker and Kennedy are also possibilities. Dahn and Smith are the extra end men.

The starting lineup of the Bearcats will probably have Flynn and Smythe on the wings, Door and Cartwright tackles, Acerino and Hope guards. Bendon center, Moak, quarterback, Walsh, W. Kelleher and F. Kelleher backs.

The game will start at 3 p. m. Sunday instead of at the hour appointed last week as Managers Brooks and Craft thought it more convenient for fans.

LOYAL YELLOW JACKET FAN PREDICTS VICTORY

Editor, The Freeman:

"One swallow doesn't make a summer," and one defeat in more than two years doesn't mean that our Yellow Jackets have hit the toboggan and won't get back into their stride and play winning football.

I say this because I know that there are some people who cheer a constant winner—then take their allegiance elsewhere when defeat finally comes.

The best teams that ever took to the gridiron have suffered unexpected reverses. There always has to be a "first time," and last Sunday fate just willed that the Yellow Jackets should be on the short end.

Unquestionably the sad accident that befell Len O'Reilly, veteran centre and actual source and pivot of every offensive play, shattered the Jackets' morale and was the overwhelming cause of their defeat. Certainly they would not have lost by such a large score had O'Reilly played through the game. The devastating effect on his team mates when game Len was carried off the field was quickly apparent to every spectator.

With a full week in which to break in a new centre, perfect themselves in every department of the game and regain their old-time confidence, the Yellow Jackets are in fine shape and fit and ready for the Troy Bear Cats Sunday. They are determined to resume their winning streak—and they will! The line has been strengthened, several valuable new players have been added to the club's roster, and everything is all "set" for a splendid victory.

The team is "ready to go" and certainly will do their part. One thing more is needed—the generous patronage of the football fans, whose presence and whose encouragement are needed to spur the boys on to victory. I hope and trust a record-breaking crowd will be on hand.

In George Brooks and Ray Craft the team has as managers two splendid, energetic young business men whose hearts are in the task of piloting the Yellow Jackets through another winning season. They are giving of their time and their energies solely from the highest standpoint of sportsmanship. They neither seek nor desire monetary reward. Whatever financial balance remains at the end of the season goes to the players, to be divided equally.

Carl Preston, the coach, is working in entirely the same unselfish spirit. So are any and all who are assisting him.

Let's turn out en masse Sunday and show the local gridders we are with them. Let's cheer them on as they hit the victory trail—a trail I feel sure they will traverse for the remainder of the season.

Thanking you, and confidently predicting another winning year for the Yellow Jackets, I am

A LOYAL YELLOW JACKET FAN.

Rondouts and Pan-Ams Primed

Both the Pan-Ams and the Rondout A. C. baseball teams are ready for the umpire to call "play ball" in the game that will decide which is the superior nine Sunday at the Saugerties road diamond. The tilt has long been looked forward to by followers of the contestants and it is expected a crowd will witness the diamond scuffle.

Phil "Waco" Peters, who has defeated many strong teams this summer with his superior slants will start the game for the Rondouts. He will be opposed on the mound by Johnny Carpenter Pan-Am hurler of ability, who is counted on by Manager Bill McNally to stay the hardest hitting attack the Rondouts will be capable of staging. The opposing teams have a string of reserve hurlers in case the men chosen go bad.

The Rondouts have no more games booked and likely will call off activity on the diamond after Sunday's game. It is said in sport circles that Manager Artie Golnek will devote his energies to the managing of a basketball team for the Rondout A. C. this winter. If he does local quintets surely will have to go some for he is known as a successful manager of court teams.

Bill McNally of the Pan-Ams will not close his season as long as favorable weather lasts. Undoubtedly this sportsman will head a basketball team this winter as in seasons past, when his diamond performers hang up their togs.

Rondouts and Pan-Ams Primed

Both the Pan-Ams and the Rondout A. C. baseball teams are ready for the umpire to call "play ball" in the game that will decide which is the superior nine Sunday at the Saugerties road diamond. The tilt has long been looked forward to by followers of the contestants and it is expected a crowd will witness the diamond scuffle.

Phil "Waco" Peters, who has defeated many strong teams this summer with his superior slants will start the game for the Rondouts. He will be opposed on the mound by Johnny Carpenter Pan-Am hurler of ability, who is counted on by Manager Bill McNally to stay the hardest hitting attack the Rondouts will be capable of staging. The opposing teams have a string of reserve hurlers in case the men chosen go bad.

The Rondouts have no more games booked and likely will call off activity on the diamond after Sunday's game. It is said in sport circles that Manager Artie Golnek will devote his energies to the managing of a basketball team for the Rondout A. C. this winter. Ulster Classis Missionary Union

The following is the official report of the meeting held by the Missionary Union, Classis of Ulster:

Dear Workers in the Union:

For variety's sake I report the meeting in the form of a letter.

You who were present, I trust, will give to those who remained at home, a far better report than this.

What a beautiful day we were favored with! How pretty the church looked with its fine new windows, and the platform decorated with large bunches of golden marigolds! How cordial the welcome of the pastor and all the people, besides that of Mrs. Fred Chatterton after the meeting began, the appreciation of which was so nicely voiced by Mrs. Van Tol of Stone Ridge! How delicious the bountiful lunch the ladies provided for us! How sweet the singing of the eight little girls trained by Mrs. Bedford! "The Missionary Bells" of which they sang, may they reach farther and farther. Perhaps some of those little girls may some day ring those same bells in some distant field.

How pleased were we to have so many clergymen present! How earnest and helpful the prayers offered at the opening of the sessions by the Rev. H. W. Decker and the Rev. Edward Tol, and at the close by the Rev. C. V. W. Bedford. The few words in late afternoon by Dr. Seeley, the Rev. Mr. Van Tol, and the Rev. Mr. Decker, how stirring, encouraging and to the point; now and then flashing a bit of humor.

The little comments of our president, Mrs. Bedford, between addresses, how fitting! And the addresses—how can I tell adequately about them! The first, by Mrs. Taber Knox, of the W. B. D. M. reviewed our work on home fields. She spoke of our thirty-five years of work for Indians, our twenty-nine years in Kentucky, and enlarged upon our new work in Mexico where the Rev. Jose Coffin has a wide field for service. The people of the district, ours to cultivate, are chiefly Indians, and they number about 400,000. In Tapachula, his associates in the work, the Rev. and Mrs. Kempers, have established as a radiating center their home. A child has come to them and their home will demonstrate the life of a christian family. Mr. Kempers is a strong helper in the wide field.

The beautiful orchid is a native of Mexico. Now is being planted there the far more beautiful "Rose of Sharon", and we are urged to do our share in its cultivation.

Our Winnebago Mission has moved its buildings into the town. The children under its care will attend the public schools, the movement to be a national demonstration and a help to the government in solving some of its Indian problems.

The scholarship system of the W. B. D. M. has been changed. It is deemed wiser to have all scholarship contributions go into one fund, hence no society will have a special child under its care. Thus all children will have an equal chance.

The next address was by Mrs. Charles Olcott of New York, who came instead of Miss Walvoord. She has spent three years in India under the American Board in work for girls. She contrasted a banquet given by Camp Fire Girls in Seattle with one given by a group of girls in India, where each girl feasted upon a bit of rice and an orange, and were happy even so. The struggle for food is a constant one in India, hunger prevails. She spoke of the great mental hunger and the increasing spiritual hunger. Youth are eager for education, and from high to low, people are reaching out for knowledge of Christianity. High school boys are very studious. One set of them studied far into the night. A rule was made they must stop at ten. Then they rose at three to study. A new rule kept them in bed till five. India's needs are greater than ever.

In the afternoon Miss Youngs of McKee, Kentucky, told what is being done to promote "complete living" there. She used a chart prepared by a mountain girl which represented a complete life by a circle, its four equal segments representing the four phases of a complete life, the physical, mental, social and religious. I fancy one part is not developed rightly, the circle becomes like a flat tire, so, a life lacking development in any one aspect is not a complete life.

Very interestingly she told what is being done to develop boys and girls in all four lines. Plainly the best sort of work is being done in our Kentucky field. Seventy-six out of ninety teachers in Jackson county have been in our schools.

Miss Sarah Bussing brought the greetings of the W. B. F. M. and its appreciation of our support. She then touched upon our four far-off fields, saying the position of each is most strategic. She noted the better conditions and the advance in China. Next year the Arcot Mission will be seventy-five years old, and preparations are being made for a celebration. Missionary workers there are giving a whole month's salary to the jubilee fund. The women of India pray for us in America and in regard to our efforts for prohibition. Somewhere there a prayer meeting ten hours long was held, people coming and going, some staying through it all. Results followed. She spoke of the great interest and generosity of the Japanese in the rebuilding of Ferris Seminary. She alluded to Arabia and the hard work under way there.

She said truly God has set our church to work in "large places," and quoted, "Be ye also enlarged," —enlarged in knowledge, interest, sympathy, gifts and in prayer life. She recommended "The Missionary Review of the World," as a most valuable and instructive magazine. These four addresses should promote real results among us.

It was disappointing that the pledges asked by the boards were not fully taken. A few societies pledged fifty extra dollars. The rest promised only, to do what they could. Perhaps all may find a way to increase gifts to both boards. Shall we be outdone by the people of other lands, we who have so much that they have not? Let us pray, sacrifice, give, our Master did. Think of it every day, until in the spring we meet by their kind invitation with the Stone Ridge people. Surely we can meet the smaller request, and do something toward the larger one. Let us not fail in effort nor in faith. Thus we may prove not only willing, but able.

Your corresponding secretary,
ANNA SEARLE.

The 4-Door Sedan · Body by Fisher

NEW VALUE Brings New Heights of Public Favor

As a result of the new value offered by today's Pontiac—as a consequence of its greater power, higher speed and smarter style—this low-priced six is winning new heights of public favor.

Pontiac Six now provides new motoring luxury. Staunch, beautiful bodies by Fisher—smaller, sturdier wheels with larger tires—an engine of 186 cubic inches displacement—the cross-flow radiator—the G-M-R cylinder head...all these and many other advancements are emphasized by the performance supremacy resulting from new carburetion and manifolding.

That's why today's Pontiac Six is attracting thousands of new buyers. That's why it is winning leadership in the low-priced six-cylinder field.

Cold weather driving gains a new freedom from inconvenience in today's Pontiac Six equipped with the thermostatically controlled cross-flow radiator. When entering the inlet valve at the right, flows horizontally through the core and is prompted back to the engine. It cannot reach the liquid in the top tank until it has been cooled, reducing to a minimum losses of water and alcohol through boiling.

2-Door Sedan, $745; Coupe, $745; Sport Roadster, $745; Phaeton, $775; Cabriolet, $795; 4-Door Sedan, $825; Sport Landau Sedan, $858. All prices at factory. Check Oakland-Pontiac delivered prices—they include lowest handling charges. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.
